RESEARCH ON CURRENT SITUATION

To develop a set of materials meeting the real needs, a detailed needs analysis research have been carried out by the Ladies first! partnership. Research methodology included desk research on women work life balance in partners' regions, survey with potential users & beneficiaries to assess the specific needs and interview based survey with experts of the topics. The final report will be uploaded very soon on the project website

TRAINING CURRICULUM

Based on the research study results, the Ladies first! partnership will validate a first common draft of the training curriculum in Rome during the second transnational meeting. A curriculum in terms of knowledge, skills and competences needed to support women towards work life balance.

NEXT STEPS ...

Currently the Ladies first! partnership's experts are working to validate State of the Art report and on developing the Project's Curriculum contents and Training materials.
